LOCAL MATTERS. Richmond and Trans-Alleghany Narrow-Gauge Railroad. A meeting of "The Committee of Fif teen," appointed by the meeting of Councilmen and citizens to take under consideration the subject of building the Richmond and Trans-Alleghany Narrow-Gauge railroad, was held yesterday evening in the rooms of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, Mr.

John Enders in the chair. Mr. Enders said that up to this time he had not deemed it expedient to call a meeting of the committee, because the friends of the scheme were anxious to lay before the committee some important information; that information he thought the committee

General Imboden, temporary president of the Richmond and Trans-Alleghany Narrow-Gauge railroad, addressed the commitee, and introduced Mr. Moore, who has been engaged in building a narrow-gauge road for the Baltimore and Obio Company. Mr. Moore addressed the company upon the advantages of the parrow-gauge road over the broad gauge. He said that the cost of ties, iron, etc., was far less; that the cost of construction would be far less; forty per cent. in construction and fifty per cent. in iron can be saved. The cost of the South Branch road, which he has been building, has been about $13,000 per mile for sixteen miles. There was no doubt in his mind as to what the southern country needs-viz., cheap lines of transportation; and he believed that the narrow-gauge system would supply the need. General Imboden next addressed the committee, and explained at some length the benefits to be derived to Richmond from the ouilding of this road, and the probable future of the road and its western connections if the road is ever built. He contended that this road, if built, will be the shortest possible line from Kentucky, Tennessee, and the West to tide-water and Richmond, and nearer to Cincinnati by about thirty miles than the Chesapeake and Obio rallroad. He assured the committee that the people of the southwest along the line of this road were determined not to remain locked up much longer, and if Richmond don't make a move to build this road the people are determined to seek aid from sources which will insure the early completion of this road. They are determined to have an outlet somewhere. They the Baltimore and Ohio road, will extend its drain all of the ten counties through which the Trans-Alleghany road is proposed to be built, but will be tributary to the great western roads, and take the great freights of the West to Baltimore which Richmond should have. He thought that the committee ought to recommend to the Council to subscribe one million dollars to this road. The people of the West are willing that Richmond shall tie the hands of the company; they are anxious that the road shall come to the City Council for four or five thousand dollars to aid in this survey. The effect would be magical. It would enable us next winter to resist any attack that may be made. A corps of engineers should be put to work in the mountains. He felt satisfied, too, in saying that if five thousand a mile is subscribed for the building of the road, English contractors will undertake to build the road at once, furnishing the additional capital required. At the conclusion of General Imboden's remarks Mr. W. P. Burwell presented a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of three from the general committee to draw up a suitable memorial to the City Council setting forth the advantages of the Richmond and Trans-Alleghany Narrow-Gauge railroad; and that the Council be requested to appropriate a sum not exceeding $5,000 to defray the expenses of a survey and for other purposes incident thereto immediately; and if said survey shall be fayorable, then is recommended the submission on the part of the City Council of a proposition to the people to vote a subscription, in conjunction with the twelve counties, to aid in the construction of this road. Mr. Burwell addressed the committee very earnestly in favor of the resolution. General Jos. R. Anderson said he thought the question of building this road was a very important one, and one which should be considered very carefully before the committee acts. If the city appropriates the money asked for she at once commits herself to the building of the road. He did not think that the building of another trunk line from the city west should be recommended at this time, as we have already two roads to the West. He thought that if a road of this character is built it should be constructed to be a feeder to General Mahone's line. Or build the road from the west to Buchanan and there strike the canal and bring the freight to Riehmond that way. He thought that we ought first, however, to sustain the roads already in existence.

General Imboden replied to General Anderson, and expressed surprise at the position which he occupied in reference to this matter. ral Anderson, Mr. William P. Burweil, Mr. on Monday. The latter had a sore mouth brary. The committee also have in mind to Isaac Davenport, and Colonel H. C. Cabell, from a blow he received from the second when, at 9:15, General Anderson presented ringmaster at Louisa Courthouse, and re- Bacon. the following substitute:

Resolved, That the committee do not feel disposed to recommend to the City Council to contribute aid to the Richmond and Trans-Alleghany Narrow Gauge railroad at present. At 9:20, on motion, the meeting adjourned until Tuesday night next at 6 P. M.

GRAND RED MEN JOLLIFICATION .- One of the most pleasant entertainments that has occurred for some time past took place last night at Pythian Castle Hall, on the occasion of the presentation of a handsome banner to Jamestown Tribe, No. 41, I. O. R. M., by the lady friends of the Order. After the regular transaction of the business of the Tribe the doors were thrown open, and in a short time the room was crowded with ladies and invited guests of the Tribe. In the absence of Colonel Carrington, Mr. Robert Tyler Jones, being unexpectedly called upon, in a very happy manner presented the banner, which was received on behalf of the Tribe by William E. Granger P. G. C., in remarks which were appropriate and full of words of encouragement. He returned the thanks of the Tribe for the beautiful present, and urged the recipients to hold it aloft, and never forget the motto it bears, and the great principles of the Order-Freedom, Friendship, and Charityprinciples which will stand forever. In receiving this banner we receive woman's approbation, and with her approval our cause will always prosper and increase, and be the means of doing vast good.

Remarks were also made by Messrs. Baker,
Ruffin, Burton, Chadick, and others. After which, a handsome gold-headed cane was presented by Jamestown Tribe to Mr. Granger in token of their respect and esteem for him. Mr. Granger, though taken completely by surprise, accepted the gift in feelings of deep gratitude, and in very happy language.

The ceremonies being over, the ladies and friends were escorted to an adjoining room, and were feasted with a bountiful supply of the good things of the season, including all descriptions of cream and ices. And then, the tables being removed, the and struck up a lively air, and dancing was ndulged in for some time, when the company separated, all well pleased with the delightful time they had enjoyed. The banner is a very beautiful piece of workmanship. It is composed of silk, red on one side; purple on the other-four by five feet-handsomely fringed in gold and silver. On one side are the words: "Pfesented by the ladies to Jamestown Tribe, charter next winter, and the result will be that the Valley road, which is a branch of the Charity." The cost of the banner was $102.

The committee of ladies consisted of Mrs. Theolina Huffner, Miss Ella Huff, Miss Carrie line through the Clinch Valley, and not only Kuhn, Mrs. Mary Perdue, and Miss Mary Jane Brooks.

The committee of Red Men were Messrs. G. E. Ruffin, D. H. Pulliam, Charles J. Johnson, W. H. Burton, P. D. Small, Andrew Hock, E. Kirby, F. W. Backer, J. J. Sutherland, J. E. Huffman, W. F. Hufner.

THE RADICAL REBELLION-PLAIN WORDS ABOUT BURGESS FROM THE DISTRICT COMMIT-TEE .- The following circular-letter was issued by the District Committee of the Republican party yesterday. Copies of it have been sent to all the leading Republicans of Richmond; they don't want to go anywhere else, but if Richmond don't make a move the district, and to the President of the United States, and to the heads of departthey will seek aid elsewhere. RICHMOND, September 21, 1874. To the Republicans of the Third Congressiona

District of Virginia: This committee, appointed by a convention of he people, duly called and held in Richmond in lugust, 1872, to have entire control of the interest August, 1872, to have entire control of the interest of the party, and the exclusive right to call the next Congressional Convention, and do such other business as the Congressional election might require, and to remain in power until the Convention duly called assembled and elected their successors, has noticed with regret that certain parties, who have botted the Republican party organization in this district, are holding what they call "Ratification Meetings" in the interest of one Rush Burgess, a proteoded Republican candidate, who has done more to break up the party in our district than any other man in it.

Therefore this committee warps all Republicans

than any other man in it.

Therefore this committee warrs all Republicans against these parties as bolters and disorganizers, and call upon the people to turn out to their ward and county meetings and defeat the insiduous purposes of the paid hirelings of these bolters.

It is impossible that any good Republican can look on quietly and see a man whose antecedents have been so destructive to Republican unity and have been so destructive to Republican unity and success as his foisted upon the party. The District Committee, under pressure from nearly every Republican in the district, and in discharge of a duty, more than four years ago denounced this man as unworthy of the support of the party.

The Republicans of the cities and countles are urged to reor, andze their committees in all places in which the old committee has leat itself to the bolt-
